THE "SOCIAL" PROSCRIPTION.—In the testimony before the Reconstruction Committee of Congress, several notorious "Union men" complained of the "social proscription" of which they were the victims in this city and elsewhere at the South.

One of these witnesses informed the committee that he was "one of the two men in the city of Richmond who voted against the reconstruction of secession," and testified that he left Richmond in 1864, and made his way to Washington, where he "got an appointment in the Quartermaster General's Office. When the city of Richmond was captured in April," said this witness, "I went there where my family lives. I found there was no possibility of getting into business there, as most of my property was destroyed by fire. * * * The secessionists of the city of Richmond would not associate with me on account of my being a Union man. I know that they treat us Union men in such a way as to make it very unpleasant for us to live there. * * * My family has always been in the habit of associating with good families in Richmond, but they did not recently associate with us on any account. I knew the Union officers there very well, and the secessionists have been more bitter against me on that account. I have heard sneering remarks made on the streets and in the public places about Union men associating with damned Yankees."

We quote this as a pretty fair specimen of the testimony of those Southern Union men who testified before the committee. We cannot recall a single instance of one of this class of persons complaining of injury to either his person or property by the people of the South.
They complain that they cannot be elected to office, and that their social standing has not been improved by their leaving the Confederacy during the war.

We admit that no "fatted calves" were killed by the Southern people when these papers returned. Indeed, the war left us with no fatted calves on hand with which to celebrate the return of the "Union men" after the fall of Richmond. Nor did we get up ovations and complimentary entertainments to celebrate the honor which they conferred upon us by returning to our impoverished and desolated city.

But it is difficult to perceive how Congress can legislate these unhappy men out of the social covenanter of which they so indignantly complain. Are we to have constitutional amendments compelling us to visit and give dinner parties.—Richmond Times.

A Reconstruction Item.

to the Editor of the New York Times:

New York, Saturday, Aug. 25th, 1866.

An interesting affair transpired last evening on the Stamford train, between Boston and Providence, which I deem worthy of notice.
Near my seat, in the last car, was a man in blue pants who had lost an arm in the service of the United States. When the conductor called upon him for his ticket, the one armed man replied that he had neither ticket nor money, but that a friend would be in readiness at the depot in Providence to settle the amount for his trip. The conductor very courteously informed him that he should be compelled to get him off at Mansfield unless he made the necessary settlement before the arrival of the train at that place, and suggested that he might take up a collection among the passengers.
He resolved to do, and had collected the sum of thirty-five cents, when a gentleman occupying a seat with me, asked the soldier, how much he lacked of the full amount, and he replied "one dollar," which the former immediately handed him. "Thank you, kindly!" said the soldier; "but excuse me, sir, have you not been an officer in the army?" "Yes," replied the gentleman, "I was an officer in the Confederate Army." "I respect you, and shall never forget you," said the soldier.
Subsequently I got into conversation with the co-confederate, whom I found to be Capt. T.
S. Mackey, formerly chief engineer of the Trans-Mississippi army. BEN. C. TRUMAN.

LYNCHBURG.—In the memory of persons now living, this city was composed of two or three tobacco warehouses on the bank of James river, and a few dwellings, belonging to the inspectors, the ferryman, and half a dozen store keepers.

Yet by the census of 1850, Lynchburg, for the number of its inhabitants, was the richest city in the Union, New Bedford, Massachusetts, coming next. So wealthy did this inland town become, that though its population never reached one third of that of Richmond, its available capital was seven times as great.

If we were to select from untoward positions on James River or any where else, a location where we should not build a town, Lynchburg would bear off the palm; for of all absurd situations it is the most preposterous. It is not a point to which trade should naturally converge, and it has no facilities for manufacturing beyond one little creek which gives no more water power than hundreds of rivulets in that region.

The reason of Lynchburg's having become a city of rich merchants and manufacturers, is due to two causes—the courageous energy of its inhabitants, and their readiness to help each other.—Norfolk Day Book.

DROPPED THE FILM.—An ex-abolition cler-gyman having made a Southern tour writes to a Northern friend as follows:

"Society is in a dreadful condition. The slaves, now free, are the worst set of vagabonds that ever was known; lurking about, stealing and starving, dying and getting killed. After spending money enough fighting about them, to pay for every one of them, and send them to Africa with a year's provision, and the loss of a million of lives, it is now worse for black and white than it was before the war commenced."

A young man named Robinson, of Stafford county, has been arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the recent murder of the Lincoln family near Fredericksburg.

A MODERN MIRACLE!
From old and young, from rich and poor, from high-born and lowly, comes the Universal Voice of Praise for HALL'S VEGETABLE
SCALP AND HAIR RENEWER.

It is a perfect and miraculous article. Cures baldness. Makes hair grow. A better dressing than any "oil" or "pomatum." Softens brash, dry and wiry hair into beautiful silken tresses.
But, above all, the great wonder is the rapidity with which it restores GRAY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR.

Use it a few times, and
PRESTO, CHANGE!
the whitest and worst looking hair resumes its youthful beauty. It does not dye the hair, but strikes at the root and fills it with new life and coloring matter.

It will not take a long disagreeable trial to prove the truth of this matter. The first application will do good; you will see the natural color returning every day, and before you know it, the old, gray, discolored appearance of the hair will be gone, giving place to lustrous, shining and beautiful locks.

Use it a few times, and
strikes at the root and fills it with new life and coloring matter.

There are many imitations. Be sure you procure the genuine, manufactured only by

A GREAT CHANCE FOR WOOD AND LUMBER DEALERS.—The undersigned are authorized to sell 1040 ACRES OF LAND, (all in timber), in Fairfax county, 10 or 12 miles from Alexandria, on the line of the Alexandria and Fredericksburg Railroad, now in process of construction. It is heavily timbered, much of it being valuable ship-timber. The land, alone, that could be furnished the railroad, would pay a large portion of the purchase money. There is a great variety of other valuable timber—besides, at the lowest estimate, 20,000 cords of wood, which can be transported by water to market.
The land after being cleared will be valuable for cultivation. This property can be bought at a price that will ensure a fortune to an enterprising purchaser. Mr. Alexander Linnis, who lives adjoining, will show the property to any one desirous of seeing it.

CHICKAHOMINY BITTERS,
FOR CHILLS AND FEVER.
THE GREAT VIRGINIA REMEDY.

Chickahominy Bitters perform more cures, and in a shorter time, than any other remedy ever discovered for Chills and Fever.
Those who have become invalids from frequent attacks of Chills and Fever, have been perfectly restored to health in a few days, by the wonderful operation of Chickahominy Bitters.

Thousands who have used them need no further evidence of their value and happy restorative powers. The effects of a miasmatic climate upon the human system is to produce loss of appetite, debility, and general prostration of all the vital energies. By the use of Chickahominy Bitters perfect health is restored in a few weeks.
Chickahominy Bitters are the best known remedy for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Loss of Appetite, and the best tonic used. We recommend it to all.
